ABOUT THE WORK

This is how Kurt Knecht describes the 'birth' of MANLY MEN - his Men's Chorus Extravaganza:

"While listening to a men's choir perform, my friend Samantha and I turned to each other and said, with one voice: 'I hate men's choirs. Their songs all seem to be the same..' Kurt Knecht took it as a challenge and wrote a piece where he says ..."every nuance should be milked as much as possible in performance, with attention given to making the words clearly understood to make the most of each joke. The tenors will surely make good use of the aria "La Donna E Mobile" and the baritones make reference to it while singing "The Toreador Song" from Carmen. The tenor soloist should feel free to make the 'high C' as painful as possible to the audience. The second tenor section might indulge in some 'cracking' when they 'try to sing an F'. The baritones' vibrato should be broad enough to drive a bus through on the word 'wide'. Basses, you should just be your somber and secretly bitter selves. Enjoy!!!"

ABOUT THE COMPOSER

Kurt Knecht received his Bachelor of Music in piano performance and theory from the University of Tampa and his Master of Music in composition from Southern Methodist University.
